About National Kaohsiung University of Science and Technology (NKUST)

In February 2018, the National Kaohsiung University of Science and Technology (NKUST) was created as the result of a merger among three technological universities in Taiwan, namely the National Kaohsiung University of Applied Sciences, the National Kaohsiung First University of Science and Technology, and the National Kaohsiung Marine University. NKUST is now the largest national university of science and technology and the second largest national university in Taiwan, second only to the National University of Taiwan (NTU). NKUST strives to integrate the resources of the three universities to offer globalized education featuring innovation and entrepreneurship, academia-industry collaboration, and marine technologies. Currently, NKUST has 5 campuses and 14 colleges, offering top-quality undergraduate and graduate programs and serving more than 27,568 students and 170,000 alumni
